

Leading Safely

Essential learning for senior leaders

Fact sheet

This is a course for top people who want to develop a cutting edge for their business

Keeping the workforce working safely and healthily is not just a legal requirement: it's integral to many of today's successful companies. It brings huge benefits in reputation, productivity and results.

IOSH Leading Safely® gives anyone with leadership responsibility the practical knowledge and strategic solutions that enable them to turn good safety and health practice into a sustainable business advantage.

Those who have taken Leading Safely are already realising the benefits, using workable solutions and creating inclusive and well-managed organisational cultures. Led from the top and incorporated into management systems, better safety and health practice can be a genuine investment for your organisation, with fast pay-back and long-term gain.

Leading Safely – essential learning for senior leaders

We've designed our course in conjunction with business leaders to present content that will add value to your organisation. The five-hour session can be tailored to your organisation, sector or geographical location, making it relevant to delegates from any industry and in every part of the world.

The stand-out feature of the session is the ability for delegates to benchmark their current and future safety and health vision and priorities in line with global models of safety, and to recognise good practice gathered from leading organisations from around the world.

The course helps to set your organisational safety and health objectives by:

- understanding good practice from around the world
- benchmarking your performance against others
- shaping your safety and health vision and identify the steps you can take to achieve it.

Rewards for your company will include:

- reduced accident rates, absence and sick leave
- increased productivity and profits
- improved reputation among suppliers, clients and partners

- reduced insurance premiums and legal costs
- better business continuity.

Leading Safely will sharpen your skill-set and make you a more effective leader. It will give your organisation the expertise it needs to succeed.

Leading Safely is right for you and your business

The course covers:

- safety and health and what it means for different leadership roles
- the responsibilities and behaviours of a leader
- what effective safety and health leadership looks like
- how to get things right
- how leaders can make improvements
- the benefits of effective safety and health leadership.

Assessment

Learners use the diagnostic tool, accessed via a mobile app, to identify their current safety and health position against a set of critical questions. The tool recommends the actions they should take. At the end of the course they make a commitment to a personal action plan to improve their own and their organisations' safety and health management.

Delegates receive:

- an app to access their diagnostic tool / action planner
- access to a safety leadership community, with news from IOSH, and up-to-date discussions on themes in safety leadership, from trainers and delegates.

Leading Safely is delivered by IOSH's network of approved training providers.
